

A Motivational Interaction with Future Maritime Professionals

The President of The Institute of Marine Engineers (India) Shri Kaushik Seal, visited the Institute of Maritime Studies (IMS), Goa, where he interacted with faculty members and cadets.

During the visit, valuable insights were shared on the evolving maritime industry, with emphasis on continuous learning, skill development and professionalism. Cadets were encouraged to uphold high standards of discipline, safety and technical competence as they prepare to join the global maritime workforce.

The interaction provided students with an opportunity to gain guidance from industry leadership and better understand current trends and expectations in the maritime sector. The visit was well appreciated by both faculty and cadets, leaving a positive and motivating impact.
